Value Drivers and Differentiation with Auditoria.AI

Auditoria is a Workday Ventures Partner, with access to Workday's extensive experience, market know-how, and global reach in the enterprise space. Together, we are helping finance teams work more effectively as companies move toward digital transformation and automation, allowing the office of the CFO to focus on strategy and business initiatives rather than on error-prone manual tasks. In collaboration with Workday, Auditoria.AI is helping finance teams work more effectively as companies move toward digital transformation and automation, allowing the office of the CFO to focus on strategy and business initiatives rather than on error-prone manual tasks.

Outstanding Time to Value

With rapid delivery and implementations for Auditoria's SmartBots, customers see value in days, not weeks or months. A sandbox could be installed in less than a day, with a go-live typically rolled out in four to eight weeks.

SmartBots training takes minutes, unlike human onboarding programs that may take weeks, months, or even years. With quick onboarding, typical ROI payback could be demonstrated in just two quarters.

Improved Cash Visibility

Auditoria delivers reduced costs compared to FTEs. The software is always on call for faster responses and cash collection, allowing organizations to consistently increase cash velocity, reduce AR balances, and decrease bad-debt write-offs. Accelerate large volumes of email transactions and expedite the monthly close process..

Resource Scalability and Reliability

With a pre-configured, built-in finance context, minimal time is needed to get the project up and running, allowing more time for other projects. The Auditoria platform was built with extreme scalability to handle an infinite number of requests, working in real time. Always on the job, the technology rarely makes mistakes, ensuring a more efficient, accurate, and productive finance office.

Minimal IT Involvement

The cloud-based SaaS application is built specifically for finance and accounting. The intuitive setup and deployment are easy to configure and update, empowering business users to update and manage changes, which minimizes ongoing IT requirements post-go-live. Out-of-the-box functionality means teams are up and running quickly.

Pure SaaS Certified for Workday

With certified connections with Workday Financial Management, mailboxes, and other systems, Auditoria extends application investments with secure, cloud-native, seamlessly integrated APIs that increase the value of implementation investments while reducing the cost of ownership over time.

Security and Peace of Mind

Auditoria offers comprehensive access control, end-to-end encryption for data at rest / data in motion, threat protection, vulnerability management, and breach prevention. The attestation was secured with SOC 2 Type 2 Security, ensuring private, secure, and trusted communications between organizations and their customers and vendors.
